“Rebuilt and Replanted: A Daily Invitation to Walk with God”

“I the Lord have rebuilt what was destroyed and have replanted what was desolate. I the Lord have spoken, and I will do it.” - Ezekial 36:36

Even when we drift away, God’s love never changes. He promises to rebuild what has been destroyed in our lives and to replant what has become barren. His desire is not just to bless us, but to draw us closer to His heart every day.

Too often, we limit our relationship with God to a few hours on Sunday. But His invitation is not occasional, it is daily, constant, and deeply personal. From the beginning, God created the Garden of Eden to dwell with us. When mankind fell through disobedience, we lost that intimacy. Yet God did not give up on us.

Instead, Jesus came down from heaven to restore what was lost, to rebuild what was broken, and to replant what had withered. This was not an easy task. It cost Him His body and His blood. But through Christ, our solid foundation, we now have life, hope, and purpose.

Our God is an awesome God. He loves us deeply even when we don’t deserve it. Even when we go our own way, He still invites us into His presence. He longs for us to walk with Him daily, not just occasionally. He is not seeking temporary attention, but a surrendered heart.

When we take part in His covenant, remember the sacrifice that made restoration possible. Yes, it would be easy for God to simply grant us our every desire. But His goal is greater that He wants us to grow in Him.

He declares, “I the Lord have spoken, and I will do it.” He is faithful to every promise. When we fully surrender to the One who gave everything for us, our barns will overflow, and our lives will brim with His blessings.

So let us not seek Him only on Sundays or in moments of need. Let us surrender our lives completely. Let us remain in His presence and grow in His love, every single day.
